Class History

ELLEN HENNESSEY

In September, 1954, the Class of 1960 began six unforgettable years at I.H.S. It didn't take long to make new friends and to get accustomed to new teachers, but the "extras" — locker combinations, afternoon sessions, changing classes — were nearly too much for some of us. With the help and understanding of our teachers, however, we were finally able to settle down into the routine of junior high school.

It was during this year that one of our favorite Science teachers, Mr. O'Malley, left I.H.S. The class held a successful surprise "going-away" party in his honor. I think we will always remember the skating party held in Olga Barowy's yard by the Miles River. We were an orderly class usually — those two hundred word compositions assigned by Mr. Rogers ensured our cooperation — and the school year slipped by quickly.

In the fall of 1955 we had our first experience with "upper" classmen and crowded corridors, in the morning session. Our first class officers were President Ronnie Robinson, Vice-President Carol Sklarz, Secretary Ellen Caverly, Treasurer Cynthia Whitney. Since we were attending morning session, we were "eligible" for detention hall and many of us became well acquainted with it.

Each day, the girls especially looked forward to the Math class with Mr. Burke. The high-light of the year, for the girls, produced many aching muscles — practicing for places on the cheering squad. The months flew by, it seemed, and another milestone was passed as we left for summer vacation.

We greeted the opening of school in 1956 secure in the position of full-fledged high-schoolers at last, even though, as Freshman, we were considered a low form of student life. Class officers for this year were President Ronnie Robinson, Vice-President John Lensky, Secretary Marcia McGrath, and Treasurer Jane Carey. A number of girls quickly signed up for General Business when they found that Mr. McKenna had joined the faculty.

We had an unsuccessful football season with only two wins to six losses, but we can always be proud of our boys for their sportsmanship, courage, and determination. The high-light of the season was a 13-6 victory over Billerica. Our last social this year was the very popular St. Patrick's Day dance. The gym was gaily decorated with shamrocks and leprechauns which did much to enliven the evening.

Upon our return to school in September 1957, we found that our class had lost Wayne Austin, Richard Felton, and Rene Hewitt to other schools. Our 1956 class leaders were re-elected to office. This marked the third successive year that Miss Hill had to put up with us in English. Her patience was never-ending; but, although we enjoyed her teaching, it is difficult to say we were happy in such a cool, cool classroom! Janice Pickul had become attached to a little black kitten that she had rescued from the stampede in the corridors. As the kitten was banned from classrooms, it spent much of its school days in Janice's locker.

Many changes took place in the class roster: Pam Green, Janice Cooper, and John Galanis left to enter other schools; Ronnie Robinson left to join the armed services; Judy Schofield, Joe Barowy, and Brian Brouillette became members of the class. Biology, with Miss Cogswell, always proved interesting. We also went on a Biology field-trip to Boston, and (wouldn't you know) Carol and Susan got lost at Harvard University.

Our football team had a fairly successful season. We got off to a poor start winning only one out of five games, but our tigers rallied to win the last three games.

February 14 was the date of our class dance — with a Valentine theme. The auditorium was decorated with hearts and cupid motifs and a colorful chandelier was a main attraction. Our hearts were certainly young and gay as we danced to the music of Horace Mac.

In September 1958, we achieved the title "upperclassmen." Again, the class list marked changes: the names of Joan Williams, Virginia Russell, Bob Bodwell, Carol Lewis, Richard Marchisio were missing, while those of JoAnn Lambert and Mike Sherman were added. Our officers were President Alex Mulholland, Vice-President James Tedford, Secretary Marcia McGrath, and Treasurer Jane Corey. Thanks to the efforts of the Ring Committee, headed by Cynthia Whitney, we were able to wear our class rings in March.

The night of corsages, beautiful evening gowns, sophisticated tuxedos was upon us. Our Junior Prom will always be one of our fondest memories. For the theme we chose "Park Scene" and the decorating committee, headed by Mike Sherman, did an outstanding job. Many pictures were taken of students sitting on the park bench or standing by the fountain "in the park." Gordon Reed's orchestra, an enthusiastic audience, the intricate Grand March — all added to the excitement of the evening.

Friday, the 13th, proved to be a lucky day for the Tigers defeated St. Ann's to capture the Cape Ann League Basketball Championship, our first since 1952.

In honor of Memorial Day, the Juniors presented a one-act play at a school assembly. While providing enjoyment for all, the play produced a talented group of thespians. Following the play, newly chosen candidates for the National Honor Society were tapped and introduced to the student body. Those deserving students were Nancy Blonda and Eleanor Knowles. Ed Jewett received the Harvard Book Award given to the best all-round student. Congratulations were in order for Jane Carey, chosen as delegate to Girl's State, and James Tedfor and Alex Muloholland, chosen for Boy's State.

With mixed emotions, we returned to Ipswich High School in the fall of 1959 — the beginning of the end! Sally Pappas, Peter Soffron, Alex Mulholland, James Tedford had registered at private schools during the summer. Meredith McCrillis, a pleasing addition, and Bob Bodwell, a welcome returnee, became part of the class. We were very fortunate in having Kurt Gerhardt, an exchange student from Germany, join our ranks. It is difficult to say who learned most from the other, but we enjoyed imparting information about beatnicks, purple people eaters, and class dues.

Mike Sherman was elected to fill the presidency vacated by Alex Mulholland. The offices of Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer were filled by Ed Jewett, Marcia McGrath, and Jane Carey respectively.

The football team was especially happy to close its season with an undefeated and untied season. Enthusiastic sports promoters of the town provided the wherewithal for a vacation trip to New York for the team. Peter Pickul was chosen for the Most Valuable Player award by the coaches of teams which opposed the Tigers during the season, and received an appropriate trophy.

Our basketball season went well with eleven wins to five losses. The "big" game of the year resulted in a 57-53 victory over Hamilton for this brought the privilege of playing in the Tech tournament.

It is said, and rightly so, that the senior year is the most exciting. Studying college lists, checking course credits, choosing a photographer, organizing the Tiger staff, marking off the "last times," summoning courage to try out for the class play — "The Curious Savage" — preparing for Class Day activities, being measured for caps and gowns, anticipating Commencement, all add up to a busy year to be capped by the traditional Senior Reception.

Awards this year went to John Lensky, elected Good Government representative from I.H.S., Eleanor Knowles, selected "Good Citizen" by the D.A.R., and Barbara Smith, winner of the Betty Crocker "Homemaker of the Year" award.

Yes, these were happy years and they slipped by so swiftly. We shall always be grateful to our teachers and advisers for the help and understanding that they have shown us throughout the years. We have waited so long for this moment, but, now that it is here, we do not welcome the "good-bys" for it means that one happy phase of our lives is over. So as we close the door on all these experiences, we hope those who follow us will join the alumni ranks with the same sense of accomplishment and fond memories, enriched by a justifiable pride in our school and our town.

Gifts To The Boys

JoAnn Lambert and Marcia McGrath

One day while walking down the street,
A treasure we discovered at our feet:

A box full of tricks and toys —
Just the thing for gifts to the Boys!

We made our choices and hope they'll bring
A memory bright as our class ring,

We have a gift for everyone —
But, please, remember it is all in fun.

[redacted]

BRIAN BROUILLETTE

Brian works in Woolworth's store,
Sweeping floors and much, much more.

To keep his hands smooth and clean,
We offer these gloves, fresh and green.

[redacted]

RODNEY BRUCE

For Rod who is always on the go,
This plane will take him to and fro.

He can fly all around and around,
You'll never know where he'll be found.

RICHARD COGSWELL

Richie is a hot rod fan
And rides around whenever he can.

This gas pump is filled to the top
So Richie's touring will never stop.

EDWARD CONCANNON

Ed will like this little gun,
A hobby that gives him lots of fun.

With this gun he cannot fail
To catch himself a pretty female.

PETER COOKE

It was rather hard to find a toy
For Pete who is our handsomest boy.

We decided this mirror might do the trick,
To keep his appearance really slick.

LENNY DUPRAY

Lenny dreams and stares into space
With a look of ecstacy on his face.

This book of dreams will be a treasure
From which he'll derive much pleasure.

KURT GERHARDT

This round-trip ticket for Kurt we found,
For soon he'll be homeward bound.

With the ticket, we hope he may
Come back to Ipswich for a longer stay.

DONALD HILLS

Donnie lives across from school
And is never late — as a rule.

But here's a detention slip
Just in case he decides to skip.

JEFF HYDE

A plumber Jeff might some day be,
As many of you will probably agree.

We give this plunger, all in fun,
To help him get his work well done.

PETER KJOSS

A budding genius is our Pete —
A smarter boy you'll never meet.

To him we give this dunce's hat.
Could you imagine Pete in that?

JOHN LENSKY

Jack, voted our class clown,
Is full of fun, upstairs and down.

We hope this little cage
Will help to curb his mischievous ways.

DONALD COLLUM

Don is a clever and intelligent lad;
We hope this gift will make him glad.
Don, here's a large soap box
From which to launch your P.D. talks.

TONY CONSTANTINO

To Tony who has lost some pounds,
Which we hope soon will be found,

We offer spaghetti on a plate;
We know it will increase his weight.

PAUL DORT

There's a lad in our class named Dort,
He's mischievous and kind of short —

We decided on these growing pills.
We hope they won't make him ill.

BARRY EWING

To Barry who is always giggling
And, in his seat, always wiggling,

Goes this little baby's bonnet —
More giggles and wiggles it should warrant.

STANLEY HETNAR

I'm sure you've heard of Stan
And that he's a fishing man.

So to satisfy his one wish,
We give him this tiny fish.

MAYNARD HOMANS

To Maynard who's so straight and tall,
We know he'll enjoy this basketball

To remind him of his high school days.
May good fortune be yours in many ways.

ED JEWETT

To Ed who's always on the ball,
And we hope that he'll remember us all,

We give this string of lollipops —
A sweet way to say, "You're the tops."

ARNOLD LECLAIR

Arnold is a clam digger at heart,
So to help him make a successful start,

We offer this fork. We certainly think
It will do the job, quick as a wink.

EDWARD MEYER

Ed always wants to go on a trip —
So to him we give this small space ship.

Russia's the place he wants to see.
We hope he'll find her people free.

Gifts to the Boys —

FRED PICKARD

Topsfield is four miles away
From little ole Ipswich Bay.

For Fred we have this wooden sign
Which says he's on the Ipswich line.

MICHAEL SHERMAN

As Mike goes gliding across the floor,
A turn, a step, a turn once more,

We watch and wish that we could
See him dance in shoes of wood.

Now our job is almost done —

We'll always remember the laughs and the fun,

And all the little sobs and sighs,

But, most of all, we'll remember the guys.

PETER PICKUL

For Pete who's a very athletic guy,
There were lots or gifts we could buy.

But we know this little cue ball
Will come in handiest of all.

CAMERON WALLACE

To Cammy, one of our class flirts,
In order to keep the girl's alert,

We give this little sign —
But, girls, please be kind!

To the Girls

Peter Kjoss and Edward Jewett

JUDY ACHRAMOWICZ

To Judy who is so very sad,
Goes a joke book to make her glad.

MARY JANE BALL

We give this phone to Mary Ball;
We hope it will bring a welcome call.

Goes this drum to create a riot.

To Carol who cuts quite a caper,
Go these scissors and some paper.

To carry with her wherever she goes.

This straight jacket to stop her wiggling.

We give this quarter for a free lunch.

To Olga who likes to ski,
Some snow goggles to help her see.

To Nancy goes this little white Olds,
So Pete will not wear out his soles.

We give to Jane this jar of honey
For being so honest with all our money.

JEAN COMEAU

This present we give to hostess Comeau;
An Emily Post to keep "in the know."

MARY DOTY

To Mary who is so very small,
We give these stilts to make her tall.

FRANCES GALLANT

Frances has a pretty name,
So here's a copy in a frame.

MARY GEORGEOPOULOS
To Mary who is seldom on time,
An alarm clock to keep her in line.

To Donna who always looks so grave,
Go flowers — compliment of Dave.

We know she'll read this book completely.

ELEANOR KNOWLES
We give this car to Eleanor Knowles;
It doesn't use gas; it runs on coals.

To JoAnn we give this boxing glove;
Now no one will dare give her a shove.

NANCY LEE
To Nancy, our class sophisticate,
Goes this bit of date-bait.

EILEEN LOCKE

Goes a trophy for our best dancer.

So here's a plug to create a spark.

We give a ticket to visit there.

Good-luck charms to carry her far.

We give this new little fluter.

Mary Rouff's so sweet and pretty,
We know she'll like this little ditty.

CAROL SKLARZ
To Carol Ann whose friends are many,
We give this shiny lucky penny.

JEAN STEVENS
We give this motor to popular Jean,
To replace the one in her Ford machine.

CYNTHIA WHITNEY
Cynthia is very good on the trampoline,
Jumping like the Mexican bean.

ELLEN HENNESSEY
Ellen's car is apt to soar;
This muffler will cut down the roar.

SUSAN HOWARD
Susan likes to ride the trail;
Her horse's shoe could use this nail.

JUDY KASZUBA
Judy's good looks are not from a box;
Her good spirits won't need these locks.

JEANETTE KUCONIS
To Jeanie, her many boy-friends to entrap
We give this gun that goes "pap pap."

CONSTANCE LAMPROPOULOS
To "Chop Chop" who's a favorite girl,
For her dark hair, here's a blond curl.

Linda works at the cleaners
And needs this pill for a calm demeanor.

To use in curing others' ills.

MARCIA McGRATH
To Marcia who is very wise,
Something to mirror her pretty dark eyes.

Pat's last name is long and hard,
So here's a new one on this small card.

WENDY PRATT
Wendy can do many things well;
Even this house she can easily sell.

BEATRICE RECINE
To Beaty who rarely makes a sound,
Goes this horn so she'll be found.

JUDY SCHOFIELD
To Judy who will be moving soon,
We give this old nostalgic tune.

BARBARA SMITH
Barb is always reading a book;
This wild one she can't overlook.

MARY WENDT
Here is some gum for Mary Wendt;
We regret it cost only a cent.

Although these gifts you may not need,
To them be kind and you will find,
For pleasant memories, they're treasures indeed.

TIME: The year 1985

PLACE: Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts, New England, U. S . A., Earth

SUBJECT: Report of the 25th Re-union of I. H. S. Class of 1960

Approaching Ipswich from the air, we spotted a familiar link with the past — the spire of the First Congregational Church. Pilot Rod Bruce turned our Irish Airlines flying saucer toward the Sky-Line Parking Area atop the Ipswich Ultra-Sonic High School, designed by Fred Pickard, Time's "Architect of the Year." As we alighted with the assistance of Stewardess Eileen Locke, we heard the rhythmic chant of calisthenic drill. We were told that Pete "Chrome-Dome" Cooke and his assistant Dick Cogswell had been especially successful with their football teams: this year they had won their fifteenth State Championship.

We used the elevator where Guard Paul Dort took us down twenty floors in 1/8th of a second. We stopped at the teachers' room where Eleanor Knowles, girls' gym teacher, and Judy Achramowicz, English teacher, were conferring with Mary Rouff about her fourth son, Herbert. Ed Concannon strolled by in a newly pressed tux, his uniform as head of the Custodian Corps. On a pavilion, Brian Brouillette was setting up a wheel from his Roulette Palace, and Nancy Rose Lee and Mary Jane Ball were practicing some routines for their next Las Vegas show. As we hadn't seen these old friends for many years, we joined them to reminisce.

They told us that Senator Ed Jewett would arrive soon from Washington with German Ambassador to the U. S. Kurt Gerhardt. We decided to take a walk through town to see the many changes that had taken place.

As we stepped out of the side door, we found one phenomenal change — a system of moving sidewalks, designed and installed by Maynard Homans. Passing town landmarks while standing still was certainly an inovation! We noted a beautifully landscaped 5 & 10 Dollar Store with the names of Carol Ann Sklarz, owner, and Frances Gallant, manager, in bright lights over the facade. Rich play-girl Sklarz was supporting fight promoter Donald Hills in his bid to get a re-match between the ever-popular Whipping Wendy and Jaw-Twister JoAnn. Sklarz and Hills had been distressed at receiving protests from our former classmates Virginia Mansfield, a Sister of Charity, and Barry Ewing, an Indonesian Monk.

Across from the 5 & 10 Dollar Store was Arnold LeClair's building, the center of his world-wide clam monopoly. The imposing structure deserved an inspection. Joe Barowy, resplendent in gold braid, greeted us at the door and directed us to the office of the receptionist Nancy Dunbar. We were impressed by the decor and the fact that the chief receptionist had three assistants, Linda Lewis, Lorraine Benjamin, and Carol Capers. The massive red door upon which was attached a whole family of gold encrusted bivalves (done by talented Donna Grover) opened to admit us to the office of the King of the Clam Industry. Mr. LeClair dismissed his private secretary Mary Georgeopoulos and served refreshments while we chatted.

Continuing on our tour of the town, we eventually passed the restaurant owned by Tony Constantino — The Tall One — and succumbde to the invitation to try his pizza. While we were eating we were approached by two members of the Coast Guard, Jeanette Kuconis and Cynthia Whitney, who were enthusiastic about their careers in the service. They told us that John Lensky and Lenny Dupray were in the motion-picture business and quite busy — warding off their women admirers!

Time was flying so we left the restaurant and moved along the streets quickly to the high school for the reunion. As we neared the school we heard a whirring sound above us as more of our classmates were flying in. We learned later that this flight carried Deputy Premier Meyer and Party-Head Diane Martel from the Kremlin. Their mission was not merely to greet their former classmates but to get the latest news about the success of Mary Ann Alhowich, Jean Stevens, Janice Pickul, and Marcia McGrath in their team study of the effects of cigarette smoking on lung cancer.

Circulating among the group we talked with Shirley Johnson and Anne Printz who conduct the Shirley-Anne Secretarial College; Susan Howard whose conversation centered about her grandchildren; Doctor Collum and Nurse Jane Carey. In the gym, two Boston Celtics Basketball stars, Pete Pickul and Cam Wallace, were demonstrating trick shots for Ellen Caverly and Mary Wendt who had just returned from a globe-trotting tour. On our way out of the gym we met Jeff Hyde repairing the water pipe in the locker room. He told us that Stanley Hetnar was now managing the glamorous model, Ellen Hennessey. We walked to the forum to greet them as they entered, and got a glimpse of their 1985 Cadillac — a shocking pink with mink seat covers!

We found ourselves seats beside Beatrice Recine, personal secretary to Massachusetts' first lady Governor, Pat Naguszewski. In front of us were Mary Doty and Judy Schofield, top executives of the Bell Telephone Company.

The first speaker was Barbara Smith, publisher of Life, who introduced the editor, Olga Barowy, and Nancy Blonda who had been commissioned to do the write-up about the reunion. Barbara was followed by an equally famous lady, Meredith McCrillis. This renowned comedienne brightened the evening considerably.

The delicious dinner had been donated by Connie Lampropoulos from one of her restaurants, the Chop-Chop Chain, whose specialty was Chinese-American food. Peter Kjoss and Judy Kaszuba arrived during the collation. Their trip from Hawaii had been delayed because of inclement weather. We were amazed to learn that our scientist, Pete, and Judy were the Hawaiian government's professional greeters . . . Pete, well-known for his antics on the surf-board, met ships in the harbor, and Judy, equally popular for her hula dancing, entertained on the quay while the ships were being moored.

Everybody enjoyed the reunion and amid cries of "keep in touch," "screen me," "use my airport anytime," we left our lovely town. As we watched the lights atop the beautiful new school twinkle away in the distance, we knew our thoughts would return at reunion time again and again to our old friends and classmates of the Class of 1960.

Girl's Basketball

The girls' varsity basketball team had a fair season with a 4-4 record in league play. This is the first time in many years that the Ipswich girls have taken part in league play and we hope that the practice will become established as it made the games more interesting.

The Ipswich teams have always had a reputation for good sportsmanship, and we hope that future teams will uphold that reputation. To next year's team — Good Luck!
